

Scuba Review

Are you a certified diver?

Has it been a while since your last dive?

If you have answered yes to the above questions, then the Scuba Review programme is for you. It will reacquaint you with diving and allow you to brush up on your skills without having to take an entire course.

This programme is ideal if you are going on holiday soon and intend to dive whilst you are away. Many locations will insist on a Scuba Review if you haven't dived for several months. Doing a Scuba Review in this country will allow you to get straight on with the real diving once you are on holiday.

What form will the course take?

The Scuba Review course starts with a self-study workbook for you to read through and complete. The workbook is then reviewed with an Instructor and a short quiz is taken. After the theory is complete, you will review your diving skills in the pool for about an hour. This will give you a chance to re-familiarise yourself with the essential skills of diving.

All the Instructors at In Depth are members of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI), the world's largest and most popular diver training agency.

Certification

Upon completion of the training programme, your log book will be updated for verification purposes.

Course Fee

The cost of the Scuba Review is £65 or £40 dependant on whether a manual is required. This includes the workbook and use of all scuba equipment at the pool.
